

Research Bibliography on the Industrial History of the Hudson-Mohawk Region

by Sloane D. Bullough and John D. Bullough

1. CURRENT INDUSTRY AND TECHNOLOGY

Anonymous. Watervliet Arsenal Sesquicentennial, 1813-1963: Arms for the Nation's Fighting Men. Watervliet: U.S. Army, 1963.

- Describes the history and the operations of the U.S. Army's Watervliet Arsenal.

Anonymous. "Energy recovery." Civil Engineering (American Society of Civil Engineers) 54 (July 1984): 60- 61.

- Describes efforts of the City of Albany to recycle and burn refuse for energy use.

Anonymous. "Tap Industrial Technology to Control Commercial Air Conditioning." Power 132 (May 1988): 91–92.

- The heating, ventilation and air–conditioning (HVAC) system at the Empire State Plaza in Albany is described.

Anonymous. "Albany Scientist Receives Patent on Oscillatory Anemometer." Bulletin of the American Meteorological Society 70 (March 1989): 309.

- Describes a device developed in Albany to measure wind speed.

Anonymous. "Wireless Operation Launches in New York Tri- Cities." Broadcasting 116 10 (6 March 1989): 63.

- Describes an effort by Capital Wireless Corporation to provide wireless premium television service in the Albany–Troy region.

Anonymous. "FAA Reviews New Plan to Privatize Albany County Airport Operations." Aviation Week & Space Technology 132 (8 January 1990): 55.

- Describes privatization efforts for the Albany's airport.

Anonymous. "Albany International: A Century of Service." PIMA Magazine 74 (December 1992): 48.

- The manufacture and preparation of paper and felt at Albany International is described.

Anonymous. "Life Kills." Discover 17 (November 1996): 24- 25.

- Research at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy on the human circulation system is described.

Anonymous. "Monitoring and Data Collection Improved by Videographic Recorder." Water/Engineering & Management 142 (November 1995): 12.

- Describes technology used to monitor water quality for the City of Albany.

Anonymous. "Videographic Recorder Increases Efficiency." American City & County 111 (January 1996): 28- 9.

- Describes technology used to monitor water quality for the City of Albany.

Anonymous. "Aerogel and Xerogel." PC Magazine 17 5 (10 March 1998): 9.

- Computer components made in Troy are described.

Anonymous. "BASF Expands Uvinul Capacity at Rensselaer Site." Chemical Marketing Reporter 246 22 (28 November 1994): 24.

- Details the manufacture of chemicals at Rensselaer's BASF plant used in sunscreen products.

Anonymous. "BASF Expands UV Light Capacity at Manufacturing Site." Chemical Marketing Reporter 246 20 (14 November 1994): 34.

- The production of ultraviolet-absorbing chemicals at BASF's Rensselaer site is discussed.

Anonymous. "Your Table Is Ready." Chemical Week 159 26 (2 July 1997): 56.

- A Community Advisory Panel at the BASF plant in the City of Rensselaer is described.

Anonymous. "Source Separation Pilot Set for Rural Community." Biocycle: Journal of Waste Recycling 35 1 (January 1994): 11.

- The solid waste processing facility of the Eastern Rensselaer County Solid Waste Management Authority is described.

Barlow, Sandra K., Jere W. Crouse, and Michael G. Moriarty. "Fabric Development for Impulse Drying." Tappi Journal 80 (July 1997): 109–114.

- Describes the manufacture of paper and paper-drying techniques used by Albany International Corporation.

Boyce, Nell. "The Telltale Rush of Blood." New Scientist (30 May 1998): 8.

- A device developed at Troy's Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute that measures the health of the human circulation system is described.

Brail, R. K., W. J. Drummond, J. Levine and B. Warren. "Mighty Mice." Planning 61 7 (1995): 8-11.

- Describes the mapping and geographic information software available from MapInfo Corporation in Troy, New York.

Butler, Douglas R. "Dream Boats." Hudson Valley 26 2 (June 1997): 94.

- Wooden-boat builders in Albany and their boats are featured.

Carter, Robert A. Industry and State, New York State. Albany: University of the State of New York, State Education Department, Legislative and Governmental Services, and the New York State Library, 1989.

- Provides information on industry and industrial promotion within New York State.

Cohoes Industrial Commission. Industrial Resources Survey, City of Cohoes, New York. Cohoes: Cohoes Industrial Commission, 1961.

- Summarizes the industry and economic conditions of Cohoes in the 1960s.

Henderson, Floyd M., and James E. Mower. "Department of Geography and Planning, State University of New York at Albany." Photogrammetric Engineering & Remote Sensing 58 (August 1992): 1166.

- Activities at the State University at Albany related to mapping and geographic information systems are discussed.

Holton, W. Conrad. "Center Provides Thin Film Knowledge for Industry." Solid State Technology 39 (March 1996): 56.

- The research activities of the Center for Advanced Thin Film Technology at the State University of New York in Albany are described.

Hood, Mark T. "Videographic Recorder Improves Monitoring and Data Collection at Albany's Loudonville Reservoir." I&CS 69 (May 1996): 69-71.

- Describes technology used to monitor water quality for the City of Albany.

Johnson, Dexter. "OxyChem, Aqua Clear Combine Strengths in Pool Chemicals Joint Venture." Chemical Market Reporter 253 (9 March): 3.

- Chlorine manufacturing in Watervliet, New York is described.

Kacharian, John C. "America's Arsenal Has Long History." VFW: Veterans of Foreign Wars Magazine 75 8 (April 1988): 24- 25.

- Describes the history of the Watervliet Arsenal from 1812 and its role in the nation's defense today.

Kessler, Ronald W., Lance F. Bosart, and Robert S. Gaza. "Recent Maximum Temperature Anomalies at Albany, New York: Fact or Fiction?" Bulletin of the American Meteorological Society 74 (February 1993): 215-26.

- Recent measurements of temperature in the region are described.

Khwaja, Haider A., and Liaquat Husain. "Chemical Characterization of Acid Precipitation in Albany, New York." Atmospheric Environment: Part A, General Topics 24A 7 (1990): 1869-1882.

- The chemical make-up of acid rain falling in the Albany region is described.

Mamis, Robert A. "Ten Under $10,000." Inc. 19 (August 1997): 47-48.

- Companies that began with small initial capital investments, including Troy's MapInfo, are described.

Melcher, J. A. Primary Productivity and Nutrient Dynamics of a New York Rural Water Supply Reservoir [Ph.D. dissertation]. Troy: Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, 1994.

- Describes the impact of agriculture and regional development on the Tomhannock Reservoir in Rensselaer County.

Melcher, J. A., J. Soracco and C. W. Boylen. "Spatial Delineation of Biotic and Abiotic Gradients in a Rural New York Reservoir." Journal of the American Water Resource Association 33 1 (1997): 35-45.

- Describes the impact of agriculture and regional development on the Tomhannock Reservoir in Rensselaer County.

Meredith, William H. The Embossing Company, Albany, New York: Toys That Teach. Albany: W. H. Meredith, 1996.

- Describes the history of the Embossing Company and the educational toy industry.

Moon, Dudley G., and John W. Fenton. "Partners in Science." The Scientist 10 1 (1996): 10.

- Describes forces affecting scientific research and industrial productivity, from the standpoint of the Albany College of Pharmacy and the New York State Department of Health.

Murray, James V. and John Swantek. The Watervliet Arsenal: A Chronology of the Nation's Oldest Arsenal, 1813-1993. Washington: Department of the Army, 1993.

- A review of the history of the U.S. Army's Watervliet Arsenal.

- Summarizes the industry and economic conditions of Rensselaer County in the 1960s.

Nollet, A. R., and R. H. Greeley. "Startup and Shakedown of Albany New York Solid Waste Energy Recovery System." Journal of Energy Resources Technology 105 (September 1983): 401- 406.

- Efforts to use refuse as fuel in the City of Albany are described.

Phair, Matthew. "Virtual Reality Hits Scheduling." ENR 235 (11 December 1995): 15.

- New software for computer–aided design (CAD) was discussed at the Computer-aided Design Simulation and Virtual Reality Symposium, held in Troy at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in December 1995.

Pope, Gregory T. "Fly by Microwaves." Popular Mechanics 172 (September 1995): 44-45.

- Microwave-powered aircraft developed at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy is described.

Rensselaer County Historical Society. Documenting Change: Industry and Business in Troy and Rensselaer, NY, 1945 to the Present: A Resource Guide. Troy: Rensselaer County Historical Society, 1996.

- A comprehensive list of archival sources pertaining to 20th century business and industry in Rensselaer County.

Saunders, Fenella. "Rocket Science." Discover 19 4 (April 1998): 32.

- Describes laser-powered aircraft developed at Troy's Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Scheraga, Dan. "Rhone-Poulenc Expands Its Niche Player Role in U.S. Silicone Market." Chemical Market Reporter 252 (1 September 1997): 3.

- Describes the manufacturing capacity of this Troy-based silicones developer.

Seidel, Leon M. "Albany International's Demise Greatly Exaggerated." Textile Industries 148 (February 1984): 56.

- Describes research and textile manufacturing activities of Albany International.

Skaaren, Lorna. Albany International: The First One Hundred Years. Albany: Albany International Corporation, 1995.

- A history of the Albany–based paper and textile manufacturing company.

Smith, William C. "Albany International: Innovative Solutions Through Research." Textile World 141 (November 1991): 60- 61.

- Products manufactured by Albany International are discussed, as well as their use in aircraft and insulating systems.

Vantuono, William C. "A Turbo in Your Future?" Railway Age 196 (March 1995): 66-67.

- Describes the high-speed railroad improvements along the route between Rensselaer and Hudson.

2. HISTORY OF LABOR, INDUSTRY, AND TECHNOLOGY

Anonymous. Hudson River and the Hudson River Rail-Road. Astoria: J. C. and A. L. Fawcett, Inc., 1851.

- A description of each of the cities and towns along the Hudson River Railroad's train route in the mid-1800s.
